Finesse Fishing Began Here

VOLUME 8 ISSUE 3 2020

a NOTE from Charlie

Charlie Brewer, Jr.

The year 2020 will be remembered as probably the worst year in the short history of America.

Masks and “social distancing” has been hammered into our psyche.

Fishermen easily responded to the need for avoiding crowds—we went fishing! Ramp parking lots and activity on the water is evidence of this.

We can enjoy our love of fishing without thinking twice—COVID what? As a matter of fact, personal fishing is one of the few sports that has not been affected that much by the pandemic. Even the pro level fishing organizations have found a way to fish.

So, keep doing what you love. Chase those bass, crappie, catfish, bream, whatever your passion is. And Slider will have the lures you need to do it.

Fresh Saltwater

What! “Fresh Saltwater?” Those two words together may sound like a contradiction but in the case of a particular Slider lure the phrasing is not.

With many, well a few cases, additional applications for particular lure other than originally designed comes to the surface. Such is the case with Slider’s Shad.

TR McDonald shows a redfish that hammered the Shad.

The Shad was specifically designed as a freshwater lure in two sizes, 3 1/2 inches and 5 inches. The lure has even been referred to as a “finesse swimbait” due to the size, action and profile.

Slider Shad
Green Ghost

Back to the saltwater-freshwater application alluded to.

T.R. McDonald, a Southern Fishing News field staffer located in Virginia, stumbled upon such a saltwater and freshwater lure duo use with the Slider Shad-in both sizes.

McDonald noticed the action and “look” of the Shad while fishing the lure in freshwater. So, he decided to try the bait in saltwater as an experiment. Sure enough, the Shad proved very effective on saltwater stripe, redfish and spectacled trout with the redfish species showing a very high vulnerability to the Shad. Several times the lure comes back to the boat missing part of the soft plastic. Did we mention that redfish have teeth that makes “lipping” them a no-no.

The preferred color is green ghost and rigged on a Slider Football Head jig hook. Depth is usually one to three feet on points.

So the next time you have a wild idea about using a Slider lure give it a shot. You may come up with a secret to loading the boat-in freshwater or saltwater.

Line Twist "IN HIS OWN WORDS"

By the late CHARLIE BREWER, SR.

For many years fisherman have asked me what causes a line to twist. Some say a certain type or brand of reel causes line twist.

Personally, I never felt that any reels caused my line to twist after many years of fishing experience with different brands and types of open face spinning reels. However, I guess it could be possible. [Reel spooling has also been a suspect of causing line twist].

But normally when I have a twisted line I can trace it to several causes. Keep in mind these are my opinions and experiences.

Regardless of how we fish and what kind of lure we fish with using open faced spinning reels we get a certain amount of twist in our lines-no matter what we do to stop it.

A lot of twist in our line results from casting our lures. Many lures will twist and cork screw as they go thru the air when cast. Of course this can twist line.
